

The Year of the Artist

The 2018 UPAF Campaign is named The Year of the Artist – a theme that allows UPAF to recognize the local artists that share their many talents to create a vibrant and diverse performing arts scene.

UPAF celebrates our local talent by showcasing Member Groups and Affiliates through more than 400 performances in the workplace and throughout the community.

To ensure the artists and their respective organizations are compensated, UPAF allocates – on average – $500 per performance.

We invite you to help underwrite the cost of these important performances by becoming a UPAF Adopt-An-Artist, sponsored by Husch Blackwell. By making a new or additional company gift of $500, your organization will receive a biography on the artist, a letter from the artist, a ticket voucher to the group the artist represents, and an opportunity to meet the artist.

UPAF AMBASSADORS: HOW TO BOOK A PERFORMER OR SPEAKER

STEP 1

Browse the 2018 UPAF Performer & Speaker Guide. You can search by performance type, audience type and by UPAF Member Group or Affiliate. We have found that performances for attentive, engaged audiences have the largest positive impact on campaign participation and we would encourage these performances to be used whenever possible (see audience definitions at the end of page three). If you are unsure of what type of performance or speaker will work best for your event, your UPAF Loaned Executive will be happy to assist you.

Please make note of the performance requirements regarding the length of performance, audience size, booking time frames, etc. These are provided to ensure the performers and speakers can provide the best possible experience for your event and staff. If your company is unable to accommodate these requirements, please select another of our many performer or speaker options.

STEP 2

Decide on dates you would like your campaign to run and what type of event you will hold to energize and inspire staff participation. Select at least three performance or speaker options in case your first choice is unavailable.

STEP 3

Meet with your UPAF Loaned Executive to discuss your Workplace Giving Campaign. Please fill out the UPAF Performer/Speaker Request Form, providing information regarding time and location of the event, audience type, parking and arrival information, as well as any customized details the performer would need to know. The more detail you can provide, the better prepared the performer or speaker will be to create a wonderful event for your company.

STEP 4

Your UPAF Loaned Executive will collect the information you've provided and request your selected performer or speaker. Once they confirm that the group or individual is available (which can take up to a week depending on the request), please promote the event throughout your company to encourage strong employee attendance. Note that once performances are confirmed, we are not able to change the date or time.

STEP 5

On the day of your event, a UPAF representative will be onsite to accompany your scheduled performer or speaker, as well as to answer any questions your staff might have about UPAF or the performing arts in our community. Please direct your performer or speaker to the performance area or provide that information to the UPAF representative onsite.

STEP 6

Following the close of your Workplace Giving Campaign you will receive a UPAF Ambassador Survey which will include questions about your experience with your UPAF Performer/Speaker event. Any feedback you can provide will greatly help UPAF to ensure strong programs in future campaigns.

AUDIENCE TYPES DEFINED

ATTENTIVE— A seated or captive group where event participant's full attention is directed to the performer or speaker.

INTERACTIVE— Events where the group is participating with the performer and is actively engaged in the presentation.

BACKGROUND— Event participants come and go, or their primary focus of attention is directed at other activities taking place in the space.

MILWAUKEE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Music: Attentive

Now in its 59th season, the MSO has risen to a position of national prominence through the dedication of its musicians and the support of the Greater Milwaukee community. Have world-class musicians perform and share stories behind their journey to mastering their art, as well as the history of their instruments.

Bowing Rogue

Bowing Rogue is a dynamic duo featuring Ilana Setapen, associate concertmaster, and Margot Schwartz, first violin. The duo's innovative repertoire varies widely, leaving audiences amazed of their fantastic musicianship.

414 String Quartet

The 414 String Quartet features all-star MSO musicians: violinists Alex Ayers and Paul Hauer; Nicole Sutterfield, assistant principal viola; Peter Thomas, cello. The 414 Quartet brings elegant phrasing, a solid ensemble and an obvious enthusiasm for chamber music.

Kabat-Thomas Cello Duo

This duo features the sweet cello sounds of MSO cellists Lynn Kabat and Peter Thomas. Peter joined the Milwaukee Symphony in 2008. His wife, Lynn, is acting assistant principal and is the newest member of the cello section, joining in 2017!

Horn Quartet

This Quartet is led by MSO principal French horn, Matthew Annin. These soulful horn sounds are an amazing performance.

Woodwind Trio

This group features principals of the MSO and includes a wide variety of musical numbers.

Trombone Trio

This trio is led by MSO principal trombone, Megumi Kanda. Great Baroque arrangements, Sousa marches, jazzy tunes, sweet romance and other genres can be a part of this presentation.

Musicians with Milwaukee Ties

This performance includes: Alexander Ayers, first violin and former MSO Stars of Tomorrow recipient; Andrew Raciti, assistant principal bass and former MSO ACE student; Beth & Mike

Giacobassi, bassoon/contrabassoon and first violin.

Pangaea

Audiences can enjoy one of the MSO's most beloved Arts in Community Education (ACE) ensembles, Pangaea, to show how the MSO supports arts integration in schools. This Afro-Caribbean percussion and steel drum duo develops students' awareness and understanding of how music is built by emphasizing polyrhythms, a formal principle in this genre of music.

WILD SPACE DANCE COMPANY

Dance: Attentive

All the City's a Wild Space

When Wild Space Dance Company creates a performance, all the city becomes a wild space. Since 1986, Wild Space and Milwaukee have been partners in inventing unforgettable experiences that reveal the heart and soul of the city at Milwaukee landmarks such as Historic Turner Hall Ballroom, the Lynden Sculpture Garden, Villa Terrace and the Milwaukee County Historical Center. Wild Space Artistic Director Debra Loewen will present a short slide show with anecdotes about the performance and the images captured by Milwaukee photographers, soon to be published in a documentary book, All the City's a Wild Space. A short piece inspired by one or more photographs will follow as Loewen demonstrates how the work is created, what movements and patterns to watch for and discuss how UPAF support has helped Wild Space create memorable site-specific performances throughout Milwaukee over the past three decades.

LENGTH: 15-20 Minutes

ARTISTS: Artistic Director Debra Loewen, available company members.

REQUIREMENTS: Power outlet; access to connect laptop to projector for slide-show

BOOKING TIME: Varies depending on rehearsal schedules

Dance: Interactive

Wild About Work

Get wild with a Wild Space site-specific dance event in your workplace as part of a UPAF Workplace Giving Campaign. Wild Space Artistic Director Debra Loewen will present a short piece inspired by your business setting, followed by a fun, interactive exercise for willing participants to experience the creative process. Loewen will demonstrate how the work is created, what movements and patterns to watch for in the performance and discuss how UPAF support has helped Wild Space create memorable site-specific performances throughout Milwaukee over the past three decades at Milwaukee landmarks such as Historic Turner Hall Ballroom, the Lynden Sculpture Garden, the former Pabst Brewing Company and September's Acts of Wilderness in Menomonee Valley's Three Bridges Park.

LENGTH: 30 Minutes or longer, depends on whether site chooses to do the interactive exercise

ARTISTS: Artistic Director Debra Loewen, available company members

REQUIREMENTS: Power outlet and inspiring space to create and perform. Advance notice so the Artistic Director can create a short piece

BOOKING TIME: Varies depending on rehearsal schedules

About the Artistic Director

Debra Loewen, Artistic Director, founded Wild Space Dance Company in 1986 following a career as an independent choreographer and solo performer in the United States and South America. A 2011 Milwaukee Arts Board Artist of the Year, Loewen has created more than 120 works for the company, which have been performed to critical acclaim throughout Wisconsin and in Chicago, Minneapolis, New York, Japan and South Korea. Featured in Dance Magazine, her site-specific work has brought renewed interest and recognition to Milwaukee landmarks, such as Historic Turner Hall Ballroom and the Lynden Sculpture Garden. Over the past two decades, Debra has earned multiple choreographic fellowships from Milwaukee County, the Wisconsin Arts Board, and the National Endowment for the Arts. She holds a BFA in dance from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and a MFA in dance from UW-Milwaukee.

About the Managing Director

Sheri Urban, Managing Director, has 25 years experience in non-profit administration and communications, including roles at the Getty Museum in Los Angeles and the Milwaukee Institute of Art & Design, in addition to her tenure as Wild Space's managing director from 2001 to 2007. Prior to returning to Wild Space, she expanded her non-profit expertise with the Granville-Brown Deer Chamber and Wisconsin Academy of Family Physicians. Urban holds a MA from the University of Southern California School of Journalism and a BA from UW-Milwaukee in Mass Communication.

SPEAKER BIOS

Sheri Williams Pannell – Has performed, directed or written for a number of Milwaukee’s theater and arts entities including First Stage, Florentine Opera, Milwaukee Chamber Theater, Milwaukee Public Theater, Milwaukee Rep, Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra, African American Children’s Theater and Skylight Music Theatre. Beyond Milwaukee, Sheri has worked at Oregon Shakespeare Festival, Utah’s Old Lyric Theatre, University Opera and University Theater at UW Madison and the Children’s Theater of Madison. Sheri is an Education Lead teacher and dramaturg at First Stage, which commissioned and produced her play, WELCOME TO BRONZEVILLE earlier this year. In December of this year, First Stage will host a reading of the second play in the BRONZEVILLE trilogy. In February 2018, Sheri will co-direct First Stage’s production of THE WIZ. May of 2018, she will direct Pearl Cleage’s FLYIN’ WEST for the Bronzeville Arts Ensemble. Ms. Pannell is artistic director of the Bronzeville Arts Ensemble and co-directs the drama ministry at Calvary Baptist Church. A graduate of Spelman College, she also holds a MFA from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Barbara Wanzo, Executive Director, Black Arts MKE – Has invested over 25 years in the corporate sector employing her leadership expertise in new business start-ups, technology, sales and marketing. Making the move to the nonprofit sector in 2012, she worked to help organizations with modest resources, enhance their social footprint, brand value and achieve significant community impact and scale. Barbara seized the opportunity to launch a new nonprofit organization when hired as Executive Director for Black Arts MKE (BAMKE). BAMKE's mission is to inspire creativity in future generations by increasing the availability and quality of African Arts organizations in Milwaukee. BAMKE is a commitment to celebrate, advocate and showcase diverse and provocative work of Black playwrights, theatre, dance, music, storytelling, spoken-word, and visual artists from throughout the diaspora. Barbara serves on several boards including Aurora Family Service Advisory Board, Carmen Schools of Science & Technology, Next Door Foundation, and Silver Spring Neighborhood Center. Barbara holds an Executive MBA from Marquette University.

Ferne Caulker, Ko-Thi Dance Company Founder and Artistic Director – Professor Ferne Caulker (Emerita) recently retired from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee/PSOA/Dance Department. Ferne developed a codified system of training using principles applied throughout her Company and classes at UWM for over 45 years. Based upon codified forms through the African Continent and diaspora and basic modern dance techniques, it expands and enriches a student's view and experience of dance, movement and culture. KTDC training is focused on rhythmic structure, on the polyrhythmic and polymovement qualities of the dance, along with descriptors that accompany the form. There is focus on the carving of space, the exploration of time, level, texture and rhythm. These principles are incorporated throughout all levels of classes and age appropriate.
