

MKE ARTS LIVE! - Podcast #2

The Impact of Arts Education

Milwaukee Youth Arts Center

What would Milwaukee look like without the arts education programs that benefit our community's children?

It's been proven time and again that a young person's participation in the arts contributes to their future success: teamwork, creative thinking, problem solving, leadership, confidence and the ability to take risks are all attributes employers seek.

Hosted by Adam Carr, UPAF's second MKE ARTS LIVE! podcast opens with an incredible performance by Reese from First Stage singing "Home" from an upcoming production of The Wiz.

The next segment, a one-on-one interview features Dinorah Marquez, program director for Latino Arts Strings. She then joins a panel discussion including:

- Vedale Hill, Art Director - Jazale's Art Studio
- Tom Matthews, Principal - Trowbridge School of Discovery and Technology
- Julia Magnasco, Education Director - First Stage

Finally, the show closes with a thrilling performance from four alumni dancers (Wanyah, Myles, Naila and Tatyana) with Danceworks' Mad Hot Ballroom and Tap program.

We hope you watch and enjoy this podcast. And, don't forget to find your performance at mkearts.com!
